DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-56, drawn to a method of detecting an abnormal situation associated with a process plant, classified in class 702, subclass 179.
 - II. Claims 57-61, drawn to a method of processing data collected in a process plant, classified in class 702, subclass 183.
 - III. Claims 62-69, drawn to a method of fitting a sine wave to data collected within a process plant, classified in class 702, subclass 86.
2. The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention has separate utility such as the method of group I does not require using a first set of the collected data points to determine a block length for calculating one or more statistical measures of the collected data including of group II and the method of group II does not require using the one or more statistical measures associated with the process parameter to detect an abnormal situation within the process plant of group I. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

Inventions I and III are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention has separate utility such as the method of group I does not require storing a variable transformation of a mathematical expression of the sine wave that produces a linear expression having a second set of sine wave parameters associated therewith of group III and the method of group III does not require using the one or more statistical measures associated with the process parameter to detect an abnormal situation within the process plant of group I. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

Inventions II and III are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention has separate utility such as the method of group II does not require storing a variable transformation of a mathematical expression of the sine wave that produces a linear expression having a second set of sine wave parameters associated therewith of group III and the method of group III does not require using a first set of the collected data points to determine a block length for calculating one or more statistical measures of the collected data including of group II. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a petition under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
